Front-End Developer (React & TS) Full-time - Inverse Finance

Inverse Finance (https://www.inverse.finance/) is looking for an experienced front-end developer to join our team and assist lead developer Nour Haridy in building new decentralized finance primitives.

Who should apply

You have at least 3 years professional experience developing customer-facing React applications. You are comfortable coding applications from the ground-up using modern JavaScript tooling, and can show us live production examples of your work. You feel comfortable communicating technically, and ideally have experience working with backend developers & UX designers.

You are interested in DeFi and the Ethereum ecosystem, and you work well independently and within remote teams. You're intrigued by the idea of decentralized autonomous organizations (DAOs), and are comfortable working in a fast-paced, unorthodox industry.

What you will do

- Maintain our current web applications, built in Next.js & TypeScript
- Work closely with our lead developer in launching mission-critical applications
- Improve the quality and stability of the codebase
- Actively participate in planning and technical specification
- Help improve the existing development process by sharing feedback, suggesting improvements and taking a leading role in implementing some of them
- Collaborate with the Inverse DAO & evaluate community-led proposals

Required skills

- Expert-level React
- Excellent knowledge of JavaScript & TypeScript
- Web3.js and / or Ethers.js
- You know how to implement and maintain unit tests (e.g. Jest, react-testing-library, Enzyme)
- Practical experience with client-server communication: HTTP, REST, caching
- Fluent written English

Bonus points

- Next.js
- GraphQL
- ChakraUI
- Knowledge of Ethereum and an interest in blockchain technology

- Solidity & contract development
- Education in finance

Compensation & Benefits (80k - 125k, bonuses & tokens)

We are offering a negotiable, competitive DeFi-industry front-end salary, paid in the stablecoins of your choice. You can choose to accept part or all of your salary in the Inverse Finance native token. Generous performance bonuses will be up for grabs.
